Mexico, March 22.—Projected second election, with the Obregon failed; only eight cities followed Obregon in going ahead with the election. Obregon resigned the professorship of the University, in consequence of the re-establishment in schools and colleges of certain text-books.

Telegraphic-American News.

St. Louis, Mo., March 22.—A special dispatch says that the Cheyenne Indians, of the Cheyenne agency, last Friday, Catherine Germaine, one of the white girls recently held captive by the Indians, identified four of the Indians who murdered her father and mother. They were Medicine Water, who had shot her father; Snowy, who burned one of her sisters; and two others; the remaining three, the dispatch says, could not be found. The four Indians were young men, and were captured by the Cheyenne Indians, and were taken to the Cheyenne agency, where they were held.

New Orleans, March 21.—The Wheeler award has been received by Governor Kellogg, but it has not been officially published. It is understood, however, that the committee have decided that about eleven conservative members, not returned to the Returning Board as elected, are to be seated. The arbitrator decided that Elm, claiming to be elected to the Senate on the Conservative ticket, the district which includes the towns of Bogalusa and Colla, is not entitled to the seat; and that in Grant Parish, no election for members of the House was held. The Conservative contestant is to have a seat in the Senate.

The award, it is understood, leaves the House in the hands of the small Republican majority. All seven of the Republican members of the House, and the House, are to be seated. The House, it is understood, will be seated on Monday, and the House will be seated on Monday.

March 22.—Reports from the State place the temperature twenty degrees below zero. The temperature was before the Court of Appeals on a writ of habeas corpus. The Court, it is understood, will be seated on Monday, and the Court will be seated on Monday.

March 22.—The rain on Saturday washed a portion of the track of the Nashville Road and part of the bridge at Charleston, on the East Tennessee Road, but they transfer passengers, baggage and mails, and will be all right soon. The Alabama and Chattanooga, Memphis and Atlanta Roads were not injured.

Boston.—Cotton quiet and firm; net receipts 2,767; gross 7,233; sales 560. Philadelphia.—Cotton quiet; net receipts 159; gross 322. Charleston, March 22.—Arrived steamships South Carolina, New York, Raleigh, Baltimore.

Raleigh, N. C., March 22.—Terrible winds visited this section on Saturday, and many houses were prostrated. Several persons were killed and many hurt. New Hope County suffered most. An engine on the North Carolina Railroad exploded, and Mr. Womble, of Richmond, was killed, and the engineer, fireman and two others badly scalded.

St. Louis, March 22.—The tobacco manufacturers protest against the tax, which commenced at mid-night on the 2d. It is retroactive and disturbs trade. Washington, March 22.—The loss by the Susquehanna flood is estimated at $1,500,000.

Washington, March 22.—The Senate is considering unfinished business, being a resolution approving of the action of the President in regard to Louisiana. Ex-President Johnson began to speak at ten minutes past 12 o'clock.

The Supreme Court decided the case of Shelton v. The First National Bank of the City of New York, by reversing the decision of the Circuit Courts of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, and holding that the incomes of banks and other companies and other companies for the last five months of the year 1871, were subject to an internal revenue tax of 2 1/2 per cent. This decision secures the Government about $1,000,000.

March 22.—In the Senate, every seat was occupied, and thousands of people were standing through the galleries, to hear Ex-President Johnson. After 11 o'clock, in the morning, the galleries were closed, and the Senate floor was crowded with privileged outsiders. Johnson was dressed in his usual style of elegant neatness; he has a full head of gray hair. His voice at first was low, but gradually swelled until it rang through the corridors. He spoke without notes, and was loudly applauded when he said, "If I am elected to a third term, then good-bye to the republic." He spoke for two hours, and received applause from the galleries and the Senate floor. Johnson spoke at length of the traditions of the republic. Clay introduced a resolution denouncing Johnson for removing the deposits. It was then that the Senate had no right to do anything, and the President had no right to do anything.

any interference. This despatch was written by the Secretary of War, in the presence of the President. He declared it was not his intention to introduce a single personal matter, but to speak of public acts. He then referred to the removal of Sheridan from the command of the Fifth Military District, in 1867. It was in consequence of the wall which came up from the people of that section. Why was Sheridan selected to send back to these people, who before condemned him and prayed for his removal? He (Johnson) knew the determination of the people of the South; their great object was to be restored to the Union. Referring to the action of Grant toward Louisiana, he would say to this Emperor what Cato said to the Ambassador of Caesar, "Let him disband his legions and restore the commonwealth to liberty;" let him do that, and he, (Johnson), as humble as he was, would mount the rostrum and strive to have an indignant people forgive him for his violation of law.

The Department of the Interior will send geologists to the Black Hills country, to investigate the reports of its great mineral wealth; in the meantime, the War Department will be asked to protect the Sioux in all their treaty rights, and allow no white persons to enter that country. Rapid steps are in progress toward entering negotiations with the Sioux, for the extinguishment of their title.

Scott Smith has been indicted for libeling Macfarland. The fact that both parties are Washington telegraph correspondents, gives the case a respectable scent. Commencing with to-morrow, the Republicans have determined to set Grant, Kellogg and Louisiana out. Postmaster Jewell directs that the new law regarding transient newspapers go into effect immediately, instead of the first of April.

Probabilities.—For the South Atlantic States, continued cool and partly cloudy weather, with North or East winds and high barometer. For the Gulf States, Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, partly cloudy weather, rising temperature, Easterly or Southerly winds and falling barometer. Tom. Scott intends to run trains every hour between New York and Philadelphia—ninety minutes to be the running time.

EXECUTION OF A BANDIT.—A man who resembled the traditional bandit of the novel and the stage more than he did the ordinary American criminal, was hanged on Friday, in San Jose, to the general relief of the community he had so long plundered and menaced. This was Tiburcio Vasquez, a robber and murderer of the ancient type, who was to California what Fra Diavolo was to Italy, who, it is said, certainly killed eight persons, and probably killed many others, and whose robberies it would be difficult to record. He was the terror of Southern California, and was leagued with other desperate men as wicked but not as intelligent as himself. Of his crimes and the long war he waged with society, an interesting account is given. He died bravely, as such men generally do, and professed his innocence of murder to the last, although the evidence of his guilt is convincing.

AN EMPHATIC DENIAL FROM GEN. FORREST.—A few weeks since, the Washington National Republican published editorially an extract which it declared had been taken from a speech made by Gen. N. B. Forrest at Muldon, Tenn. The substance of the extract was that another war was inevitable, and therefore the white people ought to commence and kill off all the carpet-baggers and scoundwags, or run them out of the country. This editorial was sent to Gen. Forrest by a friend, in reply to which the general has written a letter, in which he says: "In the first place, there is no town in Tennessee, to my knowledge, called Muldon, and in the second place, I have not made a public speech of any kind for more than two years—have never uttered in public or private any such language as the article you enclose attributes to me."

It is safe to assert a lease for 999 years has never run out in this country, but this has recently occurred in England. An estate let for that term has reverted to the original holders, or rather their representatives. The land is at Woolwich, and was church property 1,000 years ago, but was leased to the Crown for military purposes. "Few incidents," as an English exchange remarks, "could speak more eloquently of the stability of English institutions, and the law-abiding nature of Englishmen and their respect for the rights of property, than that there should be an unbroken continuity of possessions from the time of Alfred the Great to that of Queen Victoria."

A seventeen-year-old boy in Paris recently induced a companion of eleven years of age to steal nine hundred francs in gold, and then strangled him, threw him into the Seine, and then walked off with the money. He was sentenced to twenty years in the galleys, "having escaped the death penalty," we are told, "on account of his youth." That boy was not venerable for his years, certainly, but that he was as good material for as pretty a little hanging as could have been furnished by any sexagenarian in France, nobody should pretend to deny.

THE MILES' ALARM MONEY DRAWER, is an article almost indispensable to merchants. Being capable of a variety of combinations, and simple in its construction, it recommends itself to merchants as an important part of their store fixtures. Till-tapping has become so prevalent that an ingenious arrangement like that of the Miles' Money Drawer is indeed a necessity. They are sold by Messrs. Fairbanks & Co., 311 Broadway, New York, and the hardware trade generally.—New York Express, March 19th.

Petitions in favor of hanging a convicted murderer are not so familiar to the public as sentimental appeals in his behalf, but that such things do occur, is pointedly demonstrated in Boston. Efforts having been made to procure the pardon of Jesse Pomeroy, the boy murderer, by petitions signed by ladies, a delegation of ladies, numbering about twenty-five, waited on the Governor and urged the execution of the young barbarian, as a measure of safety to society.

When a man comes home and tries to bolt his door with a sweet potato, pokes the fire with the spout of a coffee-pot, attempts to wind up the clock with his boot-jack, tries to cut kindling-wood for the morning fire with a paper-knife, takes a cold potato in hand to light him to bed, and professes sleeping with his hat and boots, you may reasonably infer that he has been making the acquaintance of some very friendly people.

It is said that at a recent temperance meeting in Illinois, a leading clergyman who refused to sign the customary pledge, which was rather too stringent for him, was permitted to sign one which would allow him to "eat and drink to the glory of God." The amount of "glory of God" concealed in a quart of ten-cent whiskey is a thing, some folks think, which no "leading clergyman" can afford to see wasted.

The following is one of the sweet little ditties of the Western spelling-school: O, lead my infant feet to walk Into the spelling-school; Let other children sneer and laugh At autographio rule. But me that better way will lead Till perfectly I spell; So may I shun the path that leads To where Josh Billings fell.

A TAX ON BACHELORS.—A bill has been made the special order in the State Senate of Tennessee containing the following section: "That bachelorism is hereby declared a privilege, and every male inhabitant of this State over thirty years of age, being of sound mind and enjoying good bodily health, remaining unmarried after the 1st of May, 1875, shall pay a fine of ten dollars annually."

An editor must be stirred up to his very dregs to be compelled to read his own files. The editor of the Cleveland Herald has been doing it upon some subject connected with the Bender subject. Every one of his files from 1855 down! That he has been able to do this and live, is something worthy of inquiry on the part of the medical fraternity. Talk about a doctor taking his own medicine!

A mother-in-law has sent a communication to a Milwaukee magazine, denouncing "the vile rabble of coarse, low-bred journalists," who make paragraphs about men's wives' mothers. We'll bet the woman keeps her son-in-law within the traces. Perhaps she even stood over the poor devil and made him write that communication for her.

Mr. J. B. Otten, of Charleston, died suddenly, on the 21st, from apoplexy.

A few years ago the authorities of Boston agreed that they would incur no debt which they could not pay the same year. As a consequence taxes have been reduced ten per cent, and more than $1,000,000 of the municipal debt has been paid off. In the meantime many substantial improvements have been made. Other cities might find a lesson in this.

Thomas H. Goodwin, a practicing physician of Windsor Township, York County, Pennsylvania, has been arrested and committed to prison there for the seduction of Miss Mary Eichelberger, of Lancaster, and attempting to commit abortion upon her, from the effects of which she died to-day. The victim was of a good family, was twenty-three years old.

The Australian gold production is much smaller than the yield of precious metals in the United States. In 1873, there was shipped from Melbourne gold to the amount of $22,455,610. Our production of precious metals for that year was three times this amount.

FIRE NEAR LANOLEY.—On Friday night, the barn of Mr. Wm. P. Purdue, two miles South of Langley, was destroyed by fire, together with its contents, consisting of bacon, corn, fodder and other articles. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

Mr. John W. Pettigrew, a wealthy New York turfman, died in New York last week. Only a week before his death he expended over $30,000 for three trotters, paying $15,000 for the fast mare Maggie Wilson, $10,000 for Nat. Woodcock, and $5,000 for Tanner Boy.

The Italian Government is seriously considering the adoption of radical measures for the suppression of brigandage, murder and other crimes in that country, which have hitherto been treated so very leniently.

REPORTED KILLING.—There are rumors that a peddler was killed in Spartanburg County, one day last week, and robbed of about $800. It is also reported that the murderer has been arrested and confined in Laurens jail.

MURDER IN EDGEFIELD.—A foul murder was committed in Edgefield County, last Friday. While Mr. Robert Foster, a planter, was in the field working, some unknown persons entered his house and murdered his wife, Mrs. Lena Foster.

In April next, General Butler is to receive a public testimonial from the colored men of Boston. In November last, he received a public testimonial from the people of the Sixth Congressional District of Massachusetts.

DEATH OF THREE VETERANS.—Within the past four weeks Daniel Cameron, David Hawn, and Joseph Entler, citizens of Shepherdstown, W. Va., and all three soldiers of the war of 1812, have died.

A Portland chap who, during courtship, sent his girl some poetry beginning, "Was it a Gleam of Golden Hair?" was mortified after marriage to see her hang that "gleam" over the back of the chair.

"Shake Rag," "Pull Tight," "Hard Scramble," "Poor Do," and "Steal Easy," are the names of localities in Williamson County, Illinois and "Hell's Neck" and "Hell's Half Acre," in Johnson.

On the 27th ult., Capt. Staples, of the tug Bull River, lying at Graham's Landing, in carelessly handling his gun, accidentally killed Ben. Loulen Gause, an old colored man.

The English admirer of Gen. Stonewall Jackson have presented a bronze statue of the Christian hero to the State of Virginia. It is said to be a good likeness as well as a fine piece of work.

Two terrible rain and wind storms visited Augusta, on Saturday, accompanied by a tremendous fall of hail. Sewers were overflowed and streets flooded.

James Reed, Chairman Board County Commissioners of Chester, was convicted on Friday, before Judge Mackey, of larceny and breach of trust in office.

Mr. John Jenkins, agent of the Wilmington, Columbia and Augusta Railroad, in Augusta, died in that city a few days ago.

A crusty bachelor explains that the reason a woman puts a finger in her mouth when she thinks, is because she cannot talk and think too.

When a naughty little boy breaks a window, he should be punished, on the principle that panes and penalties go together.

Two men—James Gordon, white, and Charles Ramsey, colored—were drowned in the river, near Augusta, a few days ago, by their boat upsetting.

A correspondent sadly exclaims, "How can a coquette die happy?" She can't, if there's a man around, and her back hair isn't fixed to suit her.

The colored miners have been driven away by the white miners from Straitsville, Ohio.

Eye & Lumpkin, bankers, of Forsyth, Ga., and Chapman & Vorstille, dry goods dealers, of Columbus, have failed.

APPOINTMENTS OF TRIAL JUSTICES.—W. E. Grant, Charleston; S. E. Stratton, Columbia; W. E. Holcomb, Pickens.

Mrs. Phoebe Gantt died in Union, a few days ago, at the advanced age of ninety-four.

The Laurens Railroad is to be completed by the 1st of July. So says Col. Peake.

On earth is nothing great but man; in man there is nothing great but mind. People who must draw the line somewhere—anglers.
